ABOUT

Karisuma Group is a next-generation media company exploring the future of entertainment, technology, and storytelling. We create, produce, publish, and invest in powerful ideas across multiple platforms, from books, movies, and games to digital experiences and emerging technologies.

Karisuma Group was founded by Swedish entrepreneur and author Per Roth to support storytelling and encourage creative independence. Our stories reach the world through books, games, movies, and whatever else we dream up next.

Alongside our own creations, we collaborate with brands, companies, and innovators through media services and ventures. From publishing and production to creative services and solutions, we take on projects we believe in.

PUBLISHING

Karisuma Group supports storytelling and encourages creative independence. Our stories reach the world through books, games, movies, and whatever else we dream up next. Karisuma Group is entirely self-funded and owns all of its intellectual property. That gives us the freedom to create original work, exactly the way we want to.

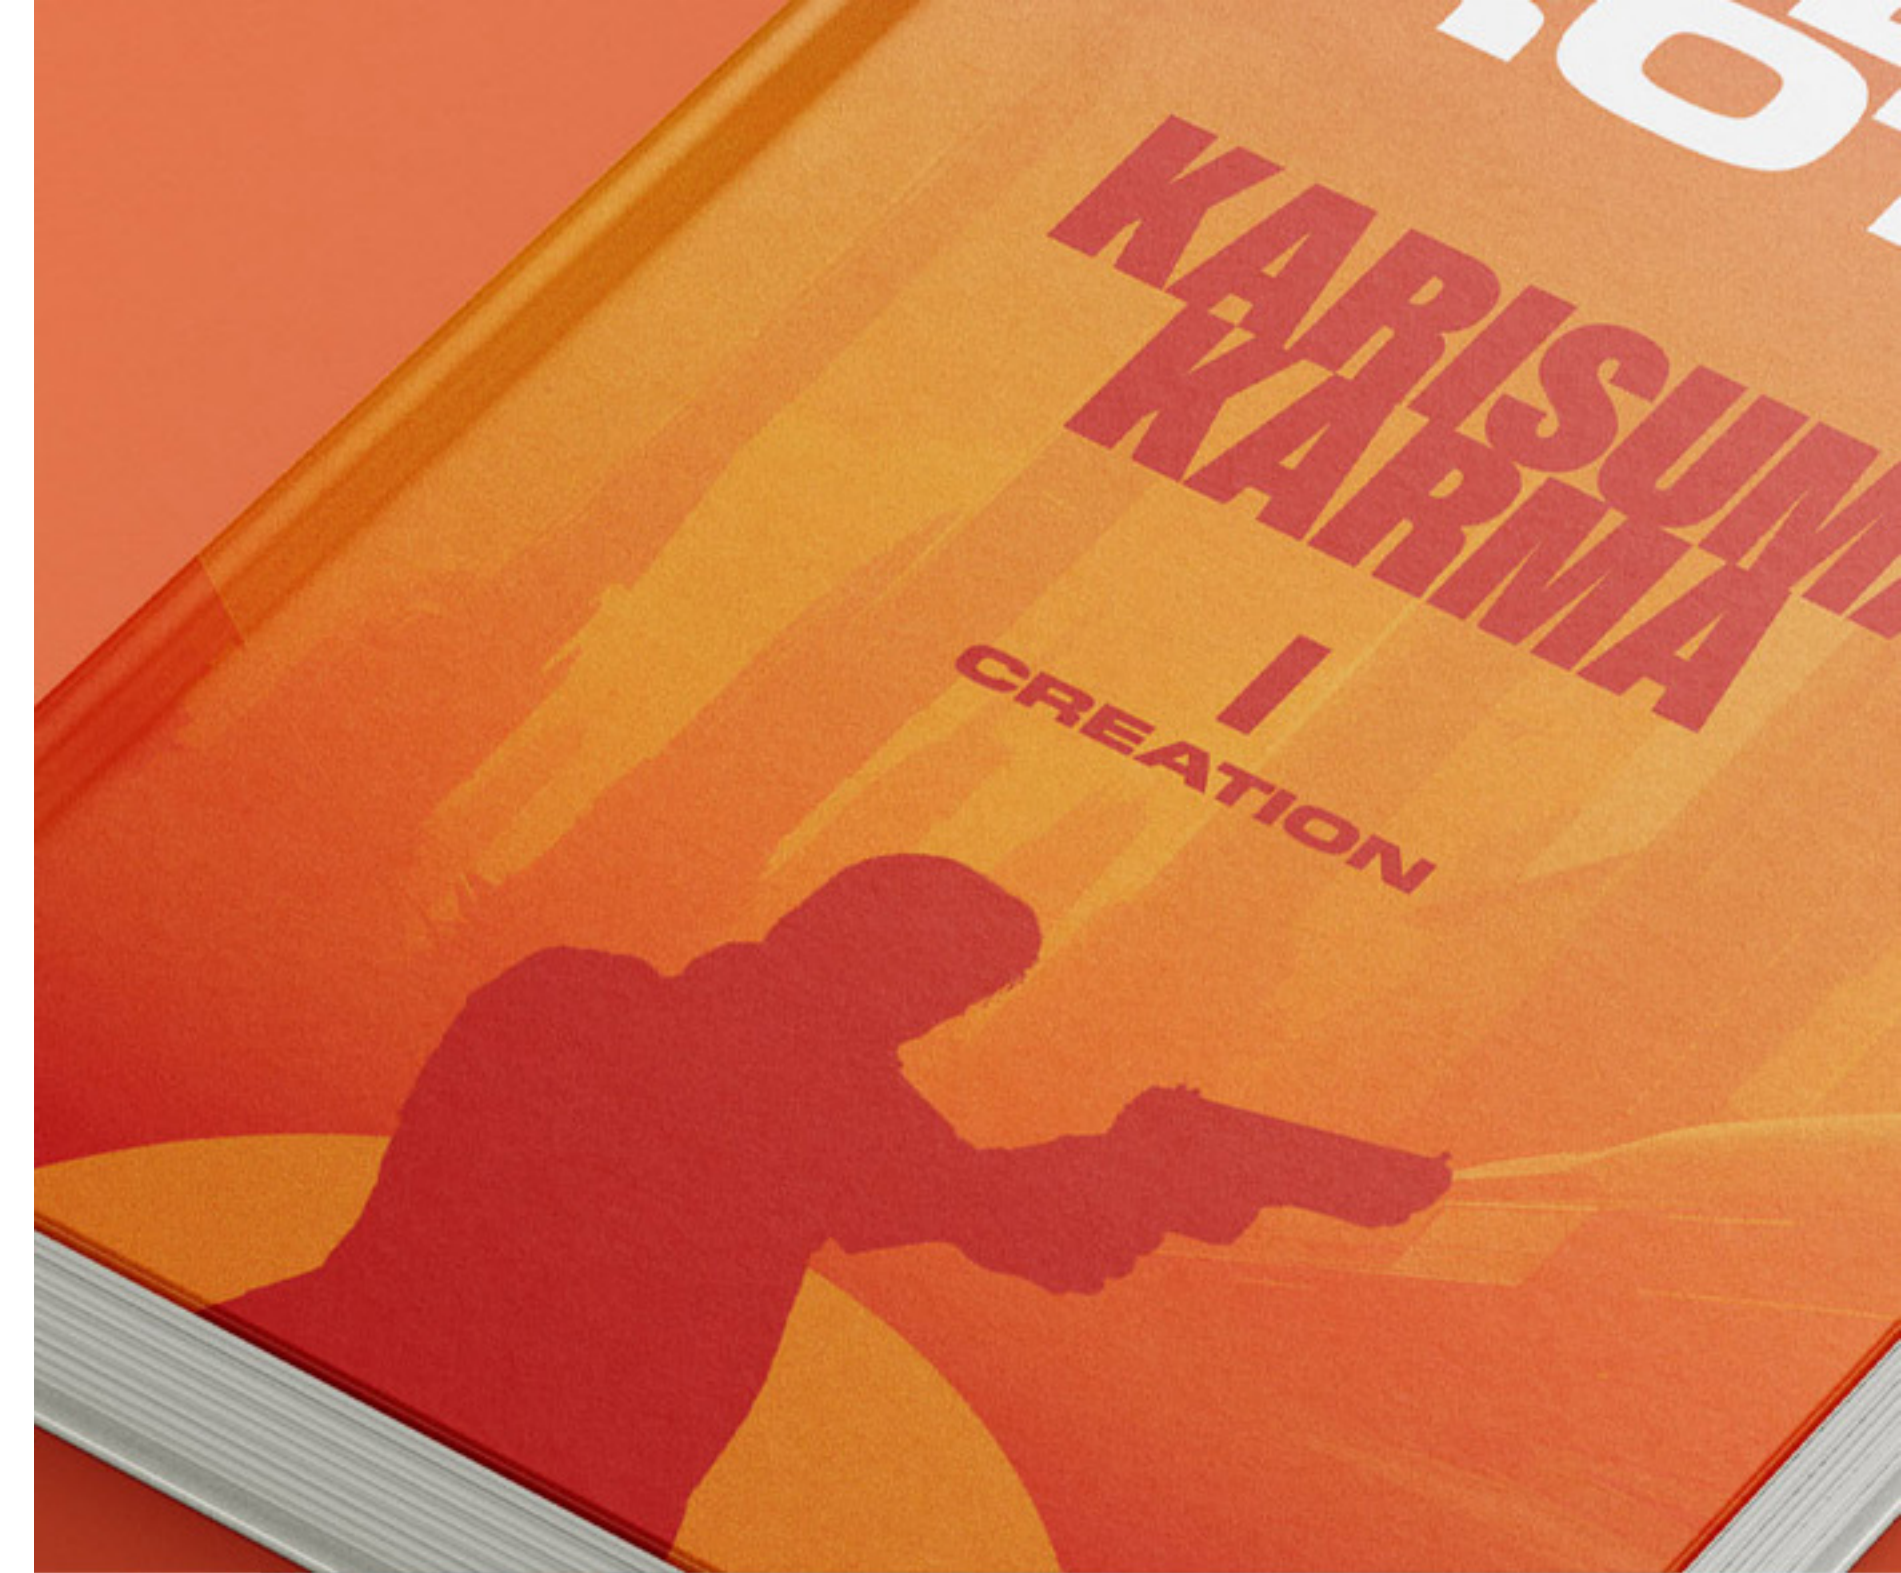

WE MAKE STORIES THAT WILL RUIN YOUR SLEEP SCHEDULE.

Karisuma Group produces, publishes, and markets original stories across modern platforms. If it involves imagination, we're in. We're all about stories that stick with you, long after you should've gone to bed.

We invite our audience to join our adventures, visiting worlds both familiar and uncharted, and to experience the magic of storytelling. We mostly publish works of fiction. Our mission is to be a reliable publisher across different genres.

EXPERIENCE THE MAGIC OF STORYTELLING.

We explore genres that range from the fantastical realms of epic fantasy and science fiction to thriller, drama, and action. This mix ensures there's something for every imagination.
